

STUDENT TRANSPORTATION

The district's transportation system shall be designed to serve the demands of the instructional program while ensuring that all students whose distance from school or disability so dictate receive efficient, effective and safe transportation. The following distance limitations shall be used as the basis for eligibility for district transportation:

Distance is measured by the nearest available route from home to school.

Exceptions to distance limitations may be made only for areas where the Board of Education has established Child Safety Zones upon the recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools, in conformance with regulations established by the New York State Commissioner of Transportation and in consultation with local law enforcement officials.
