High School World Language Students Raise Funds to Assist Haitians

The National French and Spanish Honor Societies at Garden City High School recently made a generous donation of $175 to Oxfam.org in order to help the Haiti recovery fund assist those in need following torrential flooding. The National Spanish Honor Society held a “Guess the Number of Candy Corn” fundraiser, while the National French Honor Society withdrew money from their savings from previous fundraisers to add to the donation.

“This was a well-organized fundraiser for a very worthy cause!” commented Mr. Strauzer. In true Garden City spirit, “Society members graciously participated to help people in distress,” shared Ms. Beckner.
