High School Junior Named 2017 Neuroscience Research Prize Finalist

In the email announcement to Brandon, Dr. James Reese, Chairman of the Neuroscience Research Prize Workgroup, wrote, “Your project abstract was found to be among the 15 best from a record number of entries submitted by students from all over the United States. Both you and your teacher deserve to feel proud of your accomplishments.”
