For Immediate Release:

Garden City Named as One of the Nation’s “Best Communities for Music Education”

For the fifth consecutive year, Garden City has been named one of 527 school districts nation-wide in the “Best Communities for Music Education” program. According to the sponsoring organization, the NAMM Foundation, the award program “recognizes outstanding efforts by teachers, administrators, parents, students, and community leaders who have made music education an important part of the curriculum. Designations are made to districts and schools that demonstrate an exceptionally high commitment and access to music education.”

Congratulations to Dr. Nina Prasso, district coordinator for music and the arts, and the district’s talented teachers, students, and supportive parents and administrators.
