Exploravision Students Capture Honorable Mentions in National Competition
By, Dr. Steven Gordon, science research teacher

Congratulations to two teams of Garden City High School students who were selected as 2016-2017 Honorable Mention Winners in the Toshiba Exploravision Competition. Acacia McKenna, director of Science Education Competitions at the National Science Teacher Association stated, “The Honorable Mention award places your team’s projects among the top 10% of all Exploravision projects submitted this year. Your students are commended for a job well done in demonstrating innovative thinking in the exploration of science and its impact on technology in the future.”

One winning team of freshman science research students are Maggie McElroy, Kylie McNeil, Alex Menoudakos, and Zachary Ortiz for their invention called the G.E.T. (Genetic Engineering Tool).

The second winning team of science research sophomores are Kelly McDonald, Lisa Murphy, and Julia Remick. Their invention was entitled the DSSAP, which proposed methods to mend genetic errors that occur in Down Syndrome.
